President's Message

I've been thinking about the passionate concern most of us share about the issues and candidates in the election this year. Most of us in the Fellowship are not really going to be personally affected by the outcome, whether we are happy or angry by the majority decisions. We will continue to have regular meals, adequate housing, and personal safety. Our children and grandchildren will go to school and we will go on about our lives without much change.

Most of us are retired with secure income and health care heavily subsidized by Medicare (the government). Why should we care if any one else has a job or gets to see a doctor?

We generally know how to get attention from our representatives or get local government services. Why bother about the unfortunates who haven't had our education or opportunities?

We all "know" that politicians are liars, so why do we get so outraged when they stir up hatred to get votes?

Because we really do care about our country, state and city; about fairness and equality.

The one issue on the ballots this year that has the most chance of making a positive change for all of us is the anti-gerrymandering amendments. Amendments 5 and 6 will take redistricting away from the legislature and create an independent, nonpartisan commission. The legislators would like to continue to choose voters to ensure their own reelections. Let's thwart them this time and vote for fairness!

A funny story, if it has the element of genuine wit, has the same effect on me that I suppose a good square drink of whiskey has
on an old toper; it puts new life in me.

In times like the present, men should utter nothing for which they would not willingly be responsible through time and in eternity.
